*"Aye, thus it is, one generation comes,
Another goes and mingles with the dust,
And thus we come and go, and come and go,
Back for a little moment, filling up
Some little place — and thus we disappear
In quick succession, and it shall be so Till time in one vast perpetuity
Be swallowed up" —————*

On Societies

The Committee to whom was referred the subject of Sociability meetings of the Encampment the ensuing winter — have considered the subject and respectfully report — that in their opinion these meetings have been em-
- inently useful in promoting the prosperity of the Encampment, and
- recommend the continuance of them in some form — but the Encamp-
- ment being now so numerous as to render it inconvenient for most of the members to accommodate them in their houses, therefore this practice cannot be continued — that the meetings may not be entirely aban- doned your Committee recommend that they be held in the Temple on every Friday evening, and that the expense be paid by subscrip- tion.

Nov. 17. 1847. The Council was then closed and an Encampment Opened The Grand Commander announced the death of ——— Sir Edward Frothingham Follansbee ———
 ——— which had taken place since our last meeting ———
 Whereupon Sir Winslow Lewis Jr. offered the following

Again the solemn subject of human frailty and the uncertain tenure of human life is urged upon us, again is our ranks invaded, our number diminished by that power against which no organization can protect, no association resist. Hopes have been crushed, anticipations of years of prolonged happiness blasted, the bright sun of the domestic circle darkened and one whose cheerful and cheering presence always enlivened the hearts of his companions — Cold and inanimate like that memento is he whose heart so recently pulsed with the liveliest emotions of kindness and benevolence, stilled and forever mute is that voice which always breathed to us the mild tones of warmest affection, and the hand which gave the cordial grasp of the dear friend and brother is loosened by death — Decays effacing fingers have already destroyed that form lately so redolent with activity and honorable zeal in life's busy scenes — Let us seize this event as a teaching for our good, so that, and in the appropriate language of our ritual When our frail bodies like that of our fellow Soldier shall have passed away, our disembodied spirits shall soar aloft to live forever in realms of light and everlasting bliss —

————— Teach us to live well that we may die well. —————

Nov. 17. 1847 The Sir Knight whose loss we now deplore, has not long been associated with us in the peculiar relation which enchains together our fraternal band. It is but a very few years since he was initiated in Columbian Lodge of which he became a cherished member, as also of St. Andrew's Chapter, and of this our own Encampment. But in the brief period, how he endeared himself by his kindly soul, by his suavity of manner, by his readiness in the good cause of relief and brotherly tenderness, our hearts can fondly tell — Let our Records perpetuate that though his virtues walked a narrow round, the seeds scattered through their brief pilgrimage were not cast on an wholly ungrateful soil and that

The sweet remembrance of the just

Shall flourish when they sleep in dust

Sir Knight, E. F. Follansbee was a native of Newburyport where he was born in the year 1807. He came to this place about 22 years since and was a clerk in the store of Thomas Dennie Jr. He was for some time in business in New York and Providence and returned to this City where his enterprize was not at first rewarded, but for a few years he has been engaged in a very profitable and daily improving business, his prospects were of the brightest character, his friends were numerous and increasing, his domestic happy home was blessed by an affectionate wife and enriched by promising children, hope dawned in every one, I (Winslow Lewis Jr) parted with him a few weeks since in New York gay in all these enjoyments and hopes, lively with the buoyancy of life and health, but alas! how soon there came a frost, "death's chilling frost" which snapped the root of all these blossoms, after a few weeks illness, vacillating between life and death by the morbid action of our autumnal Syphilis, he expired on Sunday morning Oct. 30. aged 40 years and was buried on Monday in his native town, the devotional services being performed at his late residence at noon on the day subsequent to his death. Brothers were there to mingle their sorrows, but that countenance so lately beaming with life and health with present and prospective joy was forever closed from their view. Death not only had snatched its victim, but decomposition had hastened its obliterating power and deprived us of that dear but last, long, lingering look. Genuine, honest, unselfish kindness of both manner and action were the distinguishing characteristics of our buried friend. The hand and the heart were both ever ready, the first to extend what the last was ever earnest to propose. He possessed an happy equanimity of temper, a most desirable possession, and of the best ingredients of happiness. It not only infuses joy into its own breast, but radiates it to others. It is the sunshine of the heart and beams with reflected efficacy and blesses others.

But he has gone ere life had shown its yellow leaf, but an unspotted life is old age and honesty the grey hair, our affections will follow his memory. That part of our friends that we love is not that part which we embrace, but that invisible immortal part that our arms cannot embrace. This goes beyond the grave, to where our estranged and divided ashes shall unite again. Let us while life and probation remain, make haste to do what we shall certainly at last wish to have done, and endeavor by mutual endearments to heighten that tenderness and brotherly love which is the balm of life. Peace to the memory of our lost one — but not forever. In the language of Masonry he has but passed on. He has not stopped, he has not ceased to be, he has passed on, in faith and duty and love, to highest labors and undefiled reward.

Resolved,

That a most valued friend, an affectionate companion, an upright conscientious Sir Knight has been lost to us by the death of

E.W. Follansbee. That we deplore in this bereavement, one whose heart and hand were as open as day to melting charity and kindness, whose soul was the habitation of the warmest fraternal feelings, giving to his memory a hallowed and long lasting dwelling in the affections of his surviving companions —

Resolved,

That we tender our sympathies to the partner of his earthly joys and sorrows with the fervent aspiration, that her joys though now overclouded may still be continued and multiplied and her sorrows assuaged by the benign influence of Him who is emphatically "the widower GOD" —

The above having been read, the same was accepted and ordered a place on our records, and a copy sent to the family of the deceased — also ordered that the Asylum be draped in mourning for three meetings —

The report of the Committee on Sir. A. Harwood's resolutions laid on the table —

The election of Prelate, postponed from the last meeting, was then attended to. Rev. Sir. Addison Searle was unanimously elected —

The usual declarations were then made to the Officers elect

Agreeable to a vote of the Grand Encampment of Massachusetts and Rhode Island, Sir. Simon W. Robinson was installed as Grand Captain General and Rev. Sir. Addison Searle as Grand Prelate of said Grand Encampment.

Sir. A. H. Ketsey newly elected Sen: Warden was then installed —

Nov. 17. 1847. The following Sir. Knights were unanimously admitted members agreeable with the recommendation of the Committee

Records of the last meeting then read

The Most Eminent Grand Commander then in a very appropriate manner announced the death of our late esteemed Brother Sir Ruel Baker which took place on Monday evening the 17th Inst. after an illness of six days, aged 56 years.

Which announcement was followed by Prayers from our excellent Prelate. And the following vote accompanied by the remarks of Sir, Daniel Harwood was passed unanimously
Most Eminent,

Prise for the purpose of proposing a Vote, in which I feel the fullest assurance that every member of this body will concur. viz

That as one expression of our grief at the death of Sir Ruel Baker, this ~~Assembly~~ he dressed in mourning for the period of three regular meetings.

This, though in some sense a matter of form, is in the present case, a proceeding of heartfelt earnestness. The Knight whose sudden recall from service has cast such gloom and sadness over this meeting, was endeared to us by high qualities, both as a man, and a Mason. Firm in his principles, persevering in purpose and prompt and efficient in action, — he was at the same time ardent in his attachments, true in his friendships — and faithful to his trusts. As a man, he was active, and useful, and of consequence, successful. and as a Mason few have been more useful, and none more earnest and untiring in their efforts to serve the cause of our Order, and perpetuate its usefulness.

The vacant seat at yonder station,* and the untouched Jewel there suspended, tell, not only of absence, but of the faith reposed in him who has left us — And the sadness depicted on every countenance and the almost breathless Silence which the introduction of this topic has produced, shew how deeply sorrow has penetrated the hearts of all.

But to many of us, the occasion is fraught with an interest peculiarly thrilling.

During that trying period of calumny and persecution, which has been but a few years ended, Sir Ruel Baker was one of a small number, in this City, who, "holding fast their integrity", and firmly adhering to their professions kept up the Organization, and punctually attended the meetings of this, as well as other Masonic bodies

By the mutations of human affairs, that little band has been somewhat scattered — But till within two days, I believe they all lived — So uninterruptedly had life flowed on, and so quietly and gratefully had the Sun of prosperity come to shine upon us, and so happy were we under its gentle and genial rays, that we seemed, almost to have forgotten that strongly cemented circle could be broken. But Death — always an unwelcome visitor — has dispelled the delusion with startling efficacy — with sudden, and trumpet-toned distinctness, our almost forgotten mortality is sounded in our ears and we are reminded that soon — we know not how soon — we like him we mourn, must yield our bodies to the Tomb — and our spirits to Him who gave them.

But though it comes with peculiar emphasis to those alluded to — the language of this unlooked for event is addressed to us all — It is a declaration that neither faithfulness in the general duties of life, nor zeal, nor fidelity, nor attachment to masonry, nor all these, in a high degree combined, can ward off the stroke of the great destroyer.

But it is unnecessary to extend these remarks — The virtues and excellencies of this worthy Knight; and the weighty instruction his removal should in fact, need not my feeble exertions, and I therefore repress the many thoughts that crowd to my lips for utterance — May we all so improve the remaining span of life, that when our ^{wake} frail bodies, like that of our departed brother, shall become cold and inanimate, our disembodied spirits may be received into that Great Encampment of the virtuous and good, over which presides the Author of all good.

On motion of Sir Winslow Lewis Jr. it was voted, That the members of this Institution attend the funeral of our deceased Sir Knight Baker, which is to take place tomorrow — And that a Committee on the part of this body to make arrangements to pay the proper respects, with other bodies, or as the case may be. — Sir Knights Lewis, Flint and Harwood were appointed — on motion of Sir Winslow Lewis Jr.

Voted. That the members of this Institution attend the funeral of our deceased Sir Knight Baker which is to take place tomorrow, and that a Committee be appointed on the part of this body to make arrangements to pay the proper respects either within our own Asylum or with other bodies as the case may be, to the life and virtues of our late worthy Sir Knight, late Grand Master of the Grand Encampment of Massachusetts and Rhode Island, and Past Grand Commander of this Encampment.

Sir Knights Lewis Flint and Harwood were appointed.

On motion, voted that there be two carriages provided at the expense of the Encampment, for its first four Officers, with such others as may wish to follow in the procession at the funeral of our late brother.

The following Eulogy was then pronounced by Sir Winslow Lewis Jr.

Let us pause in our solemn ceremonies which teach us emblematically and symbolically of Death, to dwell with saddened hearts on its dread certainty, imposed on us by the loss of one who has so recently passed its ordeal, whose frail body like that memento, now lies cold and inanimate, but whose spirit we fondly trust may now be hovering o'er us in this spot which so long his dear resort shall like all other places on earth "Know him no longer"

He has gone from our number,

He is gone from his place,

His labours are ended,

And finished his race;

He is gone and forever,

He ne'er can return,

The absent we pray for,

The dead we must mourn;

And gathering in sadness,

To night we appear,

Each note of our feelings,

The tone seems to hear,

He is gone, he is gone.

Let us then, to all that is left of him (his memory) render the tribute of our hearts, Let us deposit on his funeral Urn, the chaplet of memories "Sweet though sad" entwined and linked with the enduring verdure of friendships consecrated wreath.

Feb. 16. 1848. Sir Ruel Becker finished his tour of life's probationary pilgrimage, and entered as we humbly trust, the Asylum of another and a better world on 17th of January, after a short illness of a few days at the age of 55 years, in the midst of usefulness and activity, leaving a large circle of friends to mourn his unexpected decease. He died before the "seer and yellow leaf" had shown itself, but that life is long which answers life's great end.

How often those who survive to attain the extreme of life's prolonged journey, cultivate happiness, as evening tempests are more frequent, so they carry a black terror, and on this world's stage, if each were to choose his part, in discussion he would not take it for the length, but for its ease and goodness. The shorter life has the shorter audit to make.

Most of us here assembled, have known Sir Ruel Baker intimately and masonically speaking, intimately, and this, my brothers, implies much beyond the common friendly relations and associations of the outer world's ordinary attachments. There, a cautious reserve, a measured, guarded system of action and speech, are rendered essential by the very organization of Society's conflicting opinions sought to soften and harmonize these discrepancies. Here, the heart is laid open unreservedly, here the hand is given with the soul, here no contention, but that noble, sublime emulation of who can best show forth the excellencies of the truly divine teachings of our Order. In this way have we known our lost brother, and from this knowledge, let us portray his character and relations as a man, and a citizen, as he has lived and acted in his domestic, social and masonic characters, as a man of business he was shrewd, active, energetic and honest, fulfilling his engagements with scrupulous fidelity. He was of the first rank of mechanics and consequently shared largely of the honors of that noble institution consecrated to advance the interests and standing of that class of our fellow citizens.

He began life with but the advantages of a limited education. These advantages he increased and improved, and the various important Offices he sustained in different bodies were well performed and to the grateful acceptance of all. He was an active Citizen and whether in the City government, or in our local Militia, or as a Bank Director always evinced a ready zeal and interest to the trust reposed in him. His domestic attachments were strong. Happy in his family, in the partner of his life, in the children of his affection and his pride, his home was "The seat of love, and peace and joy"

"Where prospering and possessed, cherished friends and dear relations"

"mingled into his"

In his disposition he was eminently social, fond of social pleasures and social actions. He was a kind, generous and ardent friend and would espouse the cause of one with that ready active zeal which was a strong point in his character. Perhaps his prejudices under the impulsion of his temperament were equally strong, but I am not aware that he was ever tinctured with malignity. He might be considered what an eminent moralist designates as a "good hater" thereby implying there may be some excellence even that passion duly modified. He was charitable and ready in the cause of brotherly relief. He ever bore in mind and deed, that the unfortunate and poor are the credentials which help us to treasures in Heaven. Thus bestowed, we both carry it with us, and have it also here. The generations of the Merciful shall be blessed and find it, and though we be turned to dust, yet, by the mercy of our Heavenly Father, our good deeds here below may burgeon and be fruitful.

But his strongest, firmest relations were those connected with our Institution. Here was consecrated the untiring devotion of many years. Here were his soul's friends and at the altar of Masonry he devoted himself and transmitting that

Feb. 16. 1848 devotion, brought forward at the same Shrine the best earnest of his zeal, by dedicating his sons to the Cause of philanthropy and enlarged benevolence. May they long live to grace and adorn it, and when they shall follow their honored parent, may the same record of zeal and fidelity be paid to their consecrated memories, and may as many warm friends sigh at their obsequies as at the last testimonials rendered, when the "dust to dust, ashes to ashes" were committed to death's dread abode.

Sir Ruel Baker was initiated in and was Master of Columbian Lodge, successively. High Priest of St. Andrews Chapter. Grand Commander of this Encampment, was a member of the Grand Lodge of Perfection, of the Council of Princes of Jerusalem, and one of the few of the Supreme Grand Council of the 33^d degree and Grand Master of the Grand Encampment of Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Second Officer of the Grand Chapter at the time of his death.

It need not be said, that he who has occupied such stations, has given much time to the Order, and that it requires great fidelity of Memory to administer at so many shrines. Our deceased brother was the faithful rather than the brilliant minister at our altars. He presided not with splendor but with correctness. Not gifted with the "facile loquendi" he could not travel from the direct path and gratify with the flowers of eloquent persuasion the admiring candidate, but he would always keep in the well worn track and conduct the traveller in safety.

But he has gone, has vacated these and all other stations on earth and his departure has rent from the fraternal chain one of its valued and useful links. It has lacerated the hearts of the many who truly loved him. The eye looks in vain for that presence so constant among us. The ready grasp of friendship he will extend no more to us here, but

Feb. 16. 1848 he will await us in another and better world to welcome us to brighter scenes. Let us rejoice that so much happiness was vouchsafed him on earth. He lived to attain an honorable reputation, to secure a handsome provision for his family, to leave children with characters already formed on a basis of more than common excellence. His last illness was not protracted one, there were no cold gradations of decay. His pillow of death was smoothed by a beloved wife and cherished children, all that professional skill could do was done by an old and valued friend and brother. and thus Sir Ruel Baker passed away.

Resolved.

That as by the just but inscrutable dispensation of Providence to which we with reverence bow, Sir Ruel Baker a cherished long tried and faithful member and brother has been called to the heavenly abode, we would pay the last tribute to his worth, by our united expression of the grateful recollection in which we shall ever cherish his memory, as a true Masonic brother and friend, an unflinching defender of our fraternal faith, one who has done much and well for the Institution.

To his bereaved family, we would tender our warmest sympathy. To his widow in the loss of her counsellor guide and protector. And to his children bereft of a tender kind and judicious father; commending them to that Guardian to vouchsafe a continuance of his blessings.

Accepted and Ordered to be recorded and a copy sent to the family of our departed brother.

Feb. 16. 1848 Sir William H. Ellis Generalissimo of the Grand Encampment of the United States, having been previously introduced, rose and expressed the great satisfaction he had derived while listening to the exceedingly eloquent and impressive address and resolutions just offered, and strongly recommended that the same be printed, not only for the satisfaction of those of our own Asylum, but for himself and the Sir Knights abroad, with whom our late Prothier had been so strongly united in the fraternal bands.

Which was followed by a motion of Sir Luther Hamill, That a copy be requested for publication - (carried).

Dear Brother,

At the last meeting of our Encampment, a request was laid before its members, for the dissolution of that communion which has so long and so happily bound you and them together, and the necessity for which filled the hearts of all with the most poignant anguish.

We need not state that the "honorable discharge" was accorded to one who has ever fulfilled the measure of his Masonic duties, and who has endeared himself by kindness, integrity and courtesy to his brethren.

But in this act of separation, your old associates could not deem

Sept 20. 1848. the cold formality of the ordinary expression, sufficiently indicative of their feelings, and the undersigned were selected to convey to you, the cordial, heart-felt, universal sympathy which will accompany you to another clime, where the fervent prayers of fervent friends will call down Heaven's benedictions for renewed vigor and health.

We look with satisfaction to the happy Past, where the mutual relations which bound us, was so fraught with harmony and brotherly friendship, that so many golden rays entwined the verdant and flowery paths we have trod together, and we tender you our thanks for the large share you have contributed in smoothing the rugged track which alas! even the happiest, the most favoured must experience.

And we still look with hope to the Future. If warm aspirations, if fond wishes, if the secret supplication can avail, be assured, they never cease to rise in your absence. May these solace, if they cannot heal.

and, dear Sir Knight and Brother! if it is to be that here on earth we shall never again meet to enjoy those interchanges of heart with heart, which have sweetened our life's journey, may we reunite, after our weary pilgrimages ended, its probationary trials over, in that asylum, where higher joys are in store for the "good and the true"

Farewell! God speed thee!

Grand Celebration of the introduction of Water into the City of Boston, Wednesday October 25.th 1848.

In which great event which thousands had looked forward with intense curiosity and interest came off this day in a style of magnificence which has not been equalled on any similar occasion in the history of our country.

The Boston Encampment of ~~Friar's Fezzers~~ agreeable to an invitation from a "Committee on Invitations" of the City authorities joined in the procession, which was composed of countless thousands of every trade and occupation. The day was one of the most delightful imaginable, and the entire transactions of the day seemed to harmonize with the beauty of creation without.

The Boston Encampment with their Commander Sir Samuel Pearce, organized under the Grand Encampment of Massachusetts & Rhode Island with their Master, Sir John R. Bradford at the head.

The sweet remembrance of this day,

Will never be forgot;

By those who witness'd the display,

Or in its labors wrought.

Those who compos'd Encampment's band,

And mingled in the throng;

Will sink at last in death's embrace

Be life however long.

May all be ready — form'd in line

At our Commander's Call —

To march triumphant, file by file,

To Heaven, our peaceful Goal. —

Regular meeting - 10 o'clock evening Nov. 21. 1849.

Present. Sir Knight - Pearce - Harwood - Bradford - Hammatt - Sohier -

Atherton - Smith - Eastman - Jones -
Voted an Encampment - Sir Samuel Pearce presiding - Records read

S. Sohier pro Companion Stephen Howell was proposed for the Orders by Sir K. Woodward Referred to Sir Knight Lewis - Jones - & McLellan - G. Simpson Jr. Geo. Simpson Jr. was then created and dubbed a knight of the valiant and magnanimous Order of the Temple

The Committee to whom was referred the Subject of Honorable Membership to be conferred on Sir John B. Hammatt would report.

That Sir Knight was pained at this conclusion the embarrassment was in embodying such expressions of their deep sense of obligation and gratitude due to the venerable Sir Knight as was appropriate to this faithful Soldier, this "Old Oak" of our Institution.

In masonic devotion, Sir John B. Hammatt stands alone, one "Seci generis" for who, has like him been spared for nearly half a century to be present "in season and out of season", to aid in the duties of every Officer, ever at his post whether under the day of prosperity or the night of gloom, giving to this institution the active spirit of early manhood, of the energies of maturer years, of the valued counsel and cooperation of life's "green and yellow leaf" - infirmities have not palsied his efforts, but admit cares and sorrows, pains and sufferings which make the heart

Nov. 21. 1849, Sick, he has still sought this Asylum, this "mecca" of his devotion.
How bright how accurate, how extensive his knowledge of the Masonic Ritual! age has brought no rust, and memory has faithful to its trust in all that concerns it! Time which has impeded the vigorous step, has chilled the warm current of vitality, and furrowed the cheek with the imprints of decay - has kindly spread the mind, which still transmits as from a polished mirror all the impressions of his life's long pilgrimage - May this blessing be vouchsafed him until life's last close. When that period shall come, and distant may it be, some other pen will delineate (what now may be erroneous) the personal relations, the prolonged communion, the unceasing energies and all their characteristics as a Mason who attached themselves to an venerable Sub. ed.

The Committee would now in conclusion recommend that the Roll of the Boston Encampment be graced by inserting the name of Sir John B. Hammatt among its Honorary Members and that the Recorder transmit to him the prayers of his brethren that his life may be still prolonged in peace and happiness, and that all good angels may hover over him here and smoothe his passage to the grave. The report was accepted. and the recommendation constituting Sir John B. Hammatt an Honorary Member was sustained by a unanimous vote - The Recorder was instructed to transmit a copy as above to Sir Hammatt.

Notice of the death of
Sir Winstow Lewis

Sir Daniel Harwood announced the departure from this life of Sir Winstow
Lewis Senr as follows

"Most Eminent"

I rise to perform a most unpleasant duty — to make an announcement which no one will be pleased to hear, and which all would rejoice to find untrue — another seat in our Asylum has been made vacant, another suit, hangs tenantless and mournfully in our armory, another of our number has ceased to be. Sir Winstow Lewis Senr — the Oldest, and one of the most esteemed and steadfast of our number, is "no more" — His pilgrimage — his warfare — and his penance, are all ended, and his faith is sealed —

He died, (of hemorrhage from the lungs) at his residence in Roxbury, on the morning of the 21st Instant, at half past twelve o'clock — at the advanced age of Eighty Years — in the full possession of his faculties — sinking quietly to his rest — without pain — with entire composure, and full of peace and hope.

A clergyman who was with him in his last hours, so spoke of the beauty and sublimity of his death, as to bring to my mind with peculiar force, that touching close of Balcanis

24 May 1850

parable — "let my last end be like his" —

I will not attempt to trace the history of this remarkable man — To do that, properly, would require no small amount of time and labor, and an abler pen than mine.

Few men have accomplished more in their time than he — and very few have come to share more largely in the confidence and esteem of those with whom he came in contact, in the various relations of life. As the soul and centre of our Light House system, he has made the nation, and to a great extent, the world, his debt or, almost all the important improvements in this department, which have been made within the last half century, have owed their origin to him. Every merchant, whose ships approach our shores — every mariner who treads their decks; or mans their yards — as well as they whose wealth is by their means transported from one part of the world to another — and every man, woman, and child, whom pleasure or business sends to our shores over the great highway of Nations — each and all of them owe much of the safety now enjoyed to this indefatigable genius — For his improvement in Reflectors alone, he should be recorded as one of the benefactors of our race. As a Mason, and a Knight, I need not speak of him in this assembly, and do not, with any thought of elevating his position — His fidelity and attachment to Mas. mry — his deep interest in, and affection for, our Order — and especially for this Encampment — are well known — and this slight allusion will tell forcibly to each heart, how strong a hold he had upon us; and what a tie has been broken.

But he is gone — and his labors of love and duty, are ended — The sphere of his widespread usefulness is vacant, and he can no more gladden us, by his presence in our midst.

In view of this afflictive event, and with the memory of his many virtues, and excellencies fresh before us, it is alike the dictate of feeling and propriety — of affection for the dead, as well as the living — that we should give our thoughts a tangible, and an enduring form — I therefore respectfully offer the following resolutions — with a hope that, if adopted they may be entered among our records.

Resolved, That although we would at all times bow with entire submission to the decrees of an all wise and beneficent Providence, yet we cannot but deeply mourn under the dispensation by which Sir Winston Lewis has been removed from among us. —

Resolved, That his sterling integrity, his unremitting activity, his high moral excellence — and in short his whole character as a man, as well as his long tried and unwavering fidelity and zeal as a Brother, and a Knight of our Order, have established in our minds, exalted respect, and heart felt affection for him —

Resolved, That we most heartily sympathize with the family of the deceased, in their affliction — That with their tears for the severance of more sacred and tender ties, we would respectfully mingle ours for fraternal separation — and that we would affectionately suggest to them the

May 30. 1850 abundant consolation that he has left an unspotted name, and that he will as full of hope and peace, as of years and excellence.

Resolved, That the Asylum be arrayed in mourning for three months

The above resolutions having been unanimously adopted, on motion of Sir Gilbert Nurse, Voted, That the remarks as well as the resolutions offered by Sir Daniel Harwood be placed at length upon our records and that a copy of the same be transmitted to the family of our deceased brother.

The Committee on Jonathan Peirce's application for the degrees reported in his favor and he was admitted to receive the Orders.

————— Dear Sir and brother,

————— At a meeting of the Boston Encampment held at the Masonic Temple on the evening of January 6. 1852. it was unanimously Voted —

That the Council be appointed a Committee to procure a suitable Case, for the reception, and preservation, of the Fragment of King Solomon's Temple, presented by you, to have placed thereon an appropriate inscription — and to make known to you this action, and at the same delayed the discharge of these duties, a tardiness which, under the circumstances, we hope may be overlooked.

Jan 21. 1852 Officially and individually we now Sir tender you our warmest thanks for this memento of departed magnificence - your gift will be carefully endorsed and preserved both on account of the Donor, and the interesting associations with which it is connected. The casket is not yet completed, But we assure you it shall be worthy of both the giver and the gift.

Bro. W. Hall

I gladly improve the opportunity given me, by a note from one of my Bro. Sir Knights that it would be acceptable of presenting the accompanying Lithograph of our much esteemed Bro. Sir Knight Sturgis, to the Boston Encampment. I need hardly say that it gives me a great deal of pleasure to confer even so small a favor on the Encampment of which I am an unworthy member, and if they pronounce it acceptable, I shall feel honored by its acceptance

Dear Sir Knight and Brother,

The Boston Encampment tender to you their thanks for the very touching testimonial of your kindness in the presentation of the likeness of our lamented associate the late Josiah Sturgis.

They receive it as an additional earnest of your interest in that cause which has ever been the source of so much happiness and social comfort.

That they receive it as the effigies of one whose whole course of life's action, was unswerving in deeds of benevolence, and whose kindness of heart endears his memory to his Companions and to Society.

With the best wishes of all Sir Knights for your well being, and prosperity, and with the personal regards of the undersigned, we are Yours in the bonds of Knighthood

Resolutions

on the death of Sir Justin

E. Stevens

The Boston Encampment of Knights Templars having lost since their last meeting a member endeared to them not only by that peculiar affection which unites the hearts of all the association, but by qualities which inspired personal esteem and social regard, would hereby testify their saddened feelings, and the sense of their loss, as well as their sympathies to the afflicted family of the deceased by these subjoined resolutions.

Resolved,

That the death of Justin E. Stevens M.D. has inflicted a loss to the Institution of Knights Templars, of which he was a member, which his associates feel most deeply, cut off in the journey of life "when life was young" their regrets are the more poignant. To the aged father and our Brother, we offer the condolence of our Body; and their prayer that he may find comfort from the Supreme Source of all our joys and sorrows.

Resolved,

That we bear our testimony, that in all the relations of a Mason or a Man, he has done his duty, and has left behind him that good name better than riches or honors.

Resolved,

That we tender to his bereaved wife our warm and respectful sympathies in this her great affliction, commending her to Him who is emphatically "the Widow, God"

Sir Winslow Lewis

Boston,

Dear Sir,

At a meeting of the Boston Encampment held on the 17th July 1850. the "Council" were appointed a committee to communicate to you the grateful acknowledgments of that body for your generous present of a Sword for the use of the Generalissimo for the time being.

Circumstances prevented the discharge of that duty until a change was made in the organization of the Encampment which seemed to render a change in the Constitution of the Committee, proper, if not necessary.

Accordingly on the 20th of October 1852. the undersigned were appointed to the discharge of that pleasant duty and for that purpose they now address you.

The Encampment, Sir, have caused a suitable inscription to be placed upon your gift, and will have great pride as well as pleasure, in preserving, and appropriating according to your design - the much valued memorial of your generosity and affectionate regard.

They esteem this, as one more added to the already list of causes of gratitude to you,

And while performing this agreeable labor,

Jan. 19. 1853. permit us individually, as well as in behalf of those we officially represent, most cordially to welcome you back to your native Country and City, and to the bosom of this Institution, and the embrace of its members.

May you long be spared to bless all those with whom you are connected in the various relations of life.

And when you shall have finished your course, and ended your labors on earth, may you be admitted to that Grand Encampment of the just and good, at whose door the "term of penance" shall find an end. Then may we all finally meet, to part and sorrow no more!

Most respectfully and affectionately

Yours.

Sir Knight Winslow Lewis agreeable with instructions at the last meeting reported the following preliminary remarks and Resolutions on the death of Sir Luther Hamilton. The same were accepted and ordered to be spread upon the Records, and that the Resolutions be forwarded by the Committee to the family of our deceased Brother.

As Death removes our "Social Comforts" in his unsparing course, as our hearts are lacerated by the loss of the "friends and companions of our earlier days", so that we "die almost daily" as one after another in turn pass from being life to enter the Asylum where we are most friendly begathered let us gather up the recollections and linger on all that is now left for us, the memory of the departed. Another has now gone, one who contributed by his amenity of manners, by his gentleness of disposition and by his polished and refined mind to the harmony and enjoyment of his brethren. Sir Luther Hamilton was born in Conway graduated at Williams College. Prepared for the clerical profession at Andover. Settled over a Unitarian Church in Taunton where he was a prosperous preacher for twelve years. Thence called to Gloucester where he remained nearly two years, but being elected as a representative to the General Court and being drawn into the vortex of political life, he left the peaceful walk of the pastor and wrecked his happiness by the transfer. His later life has been one of trials and vicissitudes and the clouds of Misfortune have lowered on his declining days. A promising and lovely daughter has been for some years the inmate of a Lunatic Asylum, with no bright prospect but Death, with this, the "res angusta domi" have pressed heavily on his happiness, and have closed even the portals of prospective joy. — The solace of the two last years of this embittered existence (where pain and sickness were superadded to the sad lot) was in the production of a Biography which while it soothed the heavy hours, warmed his heart while penning the records of a lost and valued friend — one who has filled much of the public station and had had many ardent admirers, especially among the parties to whom he lent his strong intellectual powers. This was the life of the late Robert Rantoul Jr. which was completed and in press, just before the death of the author. It is a large work of great research and written with ability and truthfulness. He was a past member of St John's Lodge, Jr Paul's Chapter and of our Encampment and of Washington Lodge (Roxbury

Oct. 7 1853

Oct. 7. 1853

Letter &c. from the committee to the family)

He was a bright Companion among us. at the dark period when much personal sacrifice was required and cheerfully rendered and his later days have been smoother and his gloomy path made somewhat brighter by influences derived from this very source. His death therefore to us is a great loss. to him an unspeakable gain. Requiescat in pace.

The undersigned in behalf of the Members of the Boston Encampment of Knights Templars, present the following resolutions, on the solemn event which has severed from them a dearly beloved Brother and Friend. To you the partner of his joys and his sorrows, to you the best appreciator of his worth, these testimonials of fraternal affection will bear their value as the impressions of truthful regard and of sincere regret. They are the promptings of our hearts, spontaneous, and unanimous. This tribute is the last respect we can present. His Memory alone is left to us. This we can cherish as of one whose course of duty as a Mason was undeviating and whose gentleness and urbanity warmed the hearts of his now sorrowing Companions. — We commend to you, Madam, these pleasing influences which his character has diffused, as a balm to soothe the sadness of his departure and may you find a sanctification even in this your bitter hour.

Resolved

Oct. 7. 1853

Resolved. That by the death of the late Sir Luther Hamilton our institution has been bereft of a Member endeared to his associates by many years of devotion to those duties which mark the good man, the eminently social friend, the Christian the Masonic Brother.

That we revert with melancholy satisfaction to the pleasures derived from his courteous manners, his uniform kindness and his highly cultivated mind and that we pay this last tribute to his virtues as an act of remembrance with which affection pursues the memory of the dead.

We offer to his bereaved family these sympathies which spring from hearts sensible of the loss which has shrouded the happiness of one whose best earthly friend has been taken, and of children who here shall feel the influences of a kind Father and Counsellor. we commend them to their Heavenly Friend, to their Great Father above.

Samuel W. Hutchinson was recommended by the Committee and admitted to receive the Orders

The following tribute to the memory of our late respected Sir Knight Jonas Chickering, was presented by Sir Winslow Lewis and in motion of Sir John Flint it was voted, That they be adopted as the sentiments of this body, that they be placed upon our records and a copy thereof forward to the family of our deceased Brother,

Sir Jonas Chickering received the Orders of Knighthood in the Boston Encampment in 1844. admitted a member the same year and had an honorable discharge in 1849.

To those, who by their course of action, by a consistent and undeviating career of exalted usefulness, have left an impress of more value than gold on the institutions with which they have been connected and loved and adorned, it is becoming to their memories something more than the "passing tribute of a sigh". They demand the record of the pen as of the heart, that we may transmit to our successors these characteristics which yet radiating from the grave of buried worth, may encourage and animate the surviving associates to seek greatness by following goodness, so that the grave closing over us, "even in our ashes live our wonted fires" — "virtus post funera".

Of one, who thus followed the "spirit of Deity", and was ever faithful to the simple requisitions of the Golden Rule, it behoves us here to speak.
In this institution he received the honors of knighthood, and was for many years an attached and beloved member, and only left this to build up a similar institution, founded on the grand principles of brotherly-love and friendship.

Who can ever forget Jonas Chickering, that quiet, unassuming, deportment, that noiseless, even tenor of his way, that still, small voice whose melody was ever music to misfortune's ear, but which spoke "trumpet tongued" to a grateful community. By occupation, an artisan, in enlarged mental endow-

I have no resolutions to offer, but I thought it not out of place nor inopportune, to inscribe on our records, that we, in common with so many other institutions, would pay our due of heartfelt sympathy, for the loss of one of God's Noblemen, and let this be ^{our} resolve that we will imitate his goodness, and ever hold in our memories the worth and excellence of James Chickering, truly our "man of Ness"

R. Lusk Sir. Robert Lusk was admitted an Honorary Member, and the Committee ^{appointed} Nov. 9th to prepare a suitable expression ^{of the worth and attainment} by the members of this Institution to accompany the announcement of his election. presented the following -

At the last meeting of the Boston Encampment of Knights Templars, you was unanimously elected an honorary member of that institution which you have so long honored and benefitted by your personal interest in its behalf, and by your characteristics is as one above reproach.

We cannot transmit this record without feelings of deep emotion, called up by the reminiscences of "bygone" days in connection with yourself. you gave us your energies when your "life was young". You gave us your cooperation in manhoods prime, and you gave us your counsel in the "seer and yellow leaf" of your declining years.

Dec 21. 1853 For this we all thank you, from the youngest member who knows you only by the tongue of good report to your Coevals, alas! how few, "remnants of themselves". May God bless you and yours, and may your remaining span of life be cheered by these benign influences which a career of unsullied honor, unwearied zeal in our common cause, universal benevolence and Christian Faith cannot fail to shed upon you. It comes like a cordial to my heart, this kindly greeting, this effusion of generous feeling, and shall be cherished as a jewel of inestimable value, which shall brighten the chain of Friendship; and in the pilgrimage of my life's that journey, be a solace to my old age, and cheer me on the way).

I look back with pleasure on times of old. I bring to mind former generations, many of whom I have had good fellowship. I look on the present successful and flourishing condition of your affairs with a heart-felt satisfaction. You have had accessions of many young companions, who, in this enlightened era; bring with them such accomplishments as are favorable to intellectual moral and manly progress, and I look at your future with a devout and holy aspiration and a confident hope that the blessing of Divine Providence will succor and protect you, and prosper the work of your hands, in the noble and glorious cause in which you are engaged.

A Sodality of the Boston Encampment was held at the House of the Generalissimo, Sir Winstan Lewis on Friday evening February 24. 1854. There were present a good number of the members, together with some others invited. The Lecture having been gone through, our noble Host with his ever warm heart, perpetual, ever flowing, yet ever full and deep, greeted his brothren with a hearty welcome; the physical wants were fully met by his wide spread, unsparing hand; the mental wants were also fed by brotherly sentiment following our Host.

The whole entertainment was one which will long be remembered by those who were present.

And who of us then present, shall be the last one to pause, as his eye, dimmed by time, shall be arrested by this record; when his brow has received the last touch of time's finger, the sun of his noonday having vanished, and the mellow light of evening shadows have fallen around; Traced then, on the tablet of his memory will the glowing hues of the enjoyments passed on that evening, be written in characters of fire, indelible and unfading.

He thinks I see a tear roll down his withered cheek, as he goes back to that "noonday of his life," and rests on the "folded leaves of his memory;" Sweet emblem of thy life! Oh you too, will ere long be crushed beneath the wheel of time, only to rise and meet again beyond the confines of earth, "to dwell forever in realms of light and everlasting bliss"

On the introduction of the Guests of the evening Sirs Robert Litch and John B. Hammett by the Committee appointed for that purpose (Sirs Abraham A. Dams and John Flint) the Commander addressed them as follows.

Sir Knights

We welcome you to our Hall this evening with something more than ordinary form and ceremony, and that you may the more fully understand our reasons for so doing our Chancellor will read an extract from "the records of our fathers," and add thereto such remarks and explanations as the circumstances and objects of the occasion seem to render necessary and proper.

The Chancellor Sir Winslow Lewis then read an extract from the records of the Boston Encampment, dated March 1804 and proceeded with a remarkably happy series of remarks, - viz -

March 15. 1854 Venerable and respected and dear Sir Knights

On this joyful but still solemn occasion, it is vouchsafed to us to congratulate you on the semi-centennial accession of your initiation. It surely is a joyful one, that we have been permitted the fellowship, the communion of the true and the good so long; and that now, though the head is hoary, the hand perhaps tremulous, the limbs failing by that physical result which spares not the sturdiest, still that we have before us, heads whose grey hairs are honored, hands which are pure and unspotted, and limbs now diminished in vigour, which have ever walked uprightly before God and man.

These are our felicitations, this is then truly a joyful moment - and I have said, it is a solemn one, also! where are those who tread with you life's early, bright career. you look around in vain for the faces of the long-lost, though still dear remembered brethren of bye-gone years and the memories of Fowler, Parkitt, Sigourney, Smith and Others, rise up again to recall the scenes of your happy, youthful days.

Their bodies long have slept the sleep that knows no waking - their spirits we humbly trust, to live forever in realms of light and everlasting bliss.

We, their successors, having such exemplars, have endeavored to preserve the fire they kindled, unquenched and pure, and the flame on the altars they lighted, shall be fed by hearts warmed by their brightness and fervency, we trust that we have not been unworthy scions of such worthy Sires

But we come not here on this occasion to applaud ourselves, but to pay a filial tribute to the deeds of our Fathers we hail you! Fathers we welcome you. Fathers, your children bow to you with respect and gratitude, and thank you for all you have done, so well, and so long for us.

Spotless and exemplary in the discharge of every duty of the citizen, the man and the mason, unblemished in all the relations of domestic retirement, of integrity, purity and honor which calumny has never attained. In times of our darkness, fearless of aught else, but of the contamination of dishonor, and the reproach of being wanting to yourselves and to truth; like the delicate ermine, of arctic climes, to whom death is more tolerable than to suffer the unsullied purity of her snow-white vesture to be tarnished. It has touched your hearts to the finest issues, and "reflected happiness has blest you". It has caused you the delightful experience that "the easiest of all easy things is to be kind and good - and then it is so pleasant!" And how may they make for themselves a heaven on earth? By building up a happy home for the heart: much, but not all - Oh! not nearly all - is in the site. But it must be within the precincts of the holy ground, and within hearing of the waters of life. Here you have trod on that holy ground, and here you have heard those lessons, which flow from that sacred fount which invigorates for eternity.

Sir Knights

We meet this evening to commemorate an event, interesting even for its rarity, we are here cheered and honored by the presence of two of our ancient jewels, (Sirs Robert Lush and John B. Hammett) whose lives have run in remarkable parallelisms. Both were born at about the same period in this city, both carried the satchels together to the same public school, both received Knighthood the same evening March 28. 1804. Both have presided as Grand Commanders, and both have ever been among the most constant and devoted of the members, and they together have offered their devotions at the same altar of God for fifty years, and as Deacons have borne the sacred elements commemorative of a Saviour's love - and death. Welcome then "par nobile fratrum" welcome to the peaceful halls which so long have been graced by your presence — Welcome, Thrice welcome to the hearts of your junior and grateful associates. On your bodies, age has manifested its unsparring stamp, "frostily but kindly" but the souls are unchilled, and "though age is on the temples hung, still your hearts, your hearts are young".

May your autumnal years be peaceful and happy, unclouded and serene, the last of life the best, and when pale, concluding winter comes at last to shut the scene, and you wing your mystic flight to future worlds, may a heavenly welcome attend you as joint sharers of a more blissful and everlasting union*.

The Encampment then proceeded to the Banquet Hall, where a more than ordinary entertainment had been prepared, after partaking of which repast, the Grand Commander Sir Daniel Harwood addressed the Guests as follows.

Sir Knights Lash and Hammatt

This occasion — the fiftieth anniversary of your reception to the Order ^{the} of "Red Cross" — is deemed one of especial interest, by those Companions who now surround you, as well as by others whom circumstances have detained from this interesting meeting — and the accident of official position imposes upon me a special duty at this time, and constitutes me the fortunate Organ of communication between them and yourselves — fortunate I say, because it affords me an opportunity of paying that tribute to your characters which they so richly merit, and which it is so grateful for friendship to offer.

Mar. 18. 1854 Sir Knights, this is a rare occasion — One, which we can hardly expect will ever be repeated to either of you — and one which very few, if any, of us your Companions, shall ever experience for ourselves — None but those who live beyond the allotted period of "Three score and ten", can, — (lawfully) — see such a day — and the few who do, must either press forward rapidly in their masonic career, in early life, or attain to Knighthood at a period so late, as to bring their fiftieth anniversary near to, or beyond that time, when, in the language of Scripture as well as in accordance with too frequent experience, they will find "their strength, labor and sorrow".

It is rare, therefore, and ever must be that we meet with one, who has worn the honors of Knighthood for half a century. But on this occasion we witness the still more rare spectacle of two, — who commenced, and have completed this long pilgrimage together — who were friends in their youth, and have preserved their friendship unbroken. Who were Knighted on the same evening, and in the same Council — who continue members of the same body in which they received their honors — who have been closely united in their religious as well as Masonic associations — who, with a short intermission, have resided in the same town and city — and who, at the close of half a hundred years, stand here with their swords upon their thighs, hale, hearty, and ready for duty. Surely this is something more than common, and well may it stir our souls within us.

But the rarity of this occasion, does not constitute its only, or its chief attraction. I must be permitted to say, Sir Knights, that it is the history, and close survey of your lives, and characters that constitutes its chief charm. That stirs up the liveliest emotions — and awakens the smartest

I am aware that you are human, and doubt not that you have had your share of "human nature" to wrestle with and overcome.

But in the face of this statement and admission, I ask, where is the spot, or blemish, that seriously mars the beauty of your social, moral or religious characters? As men, as citizens, as Christians, you have been before the same community for this very long period — and where is the man to point out the tarnish on your "good report," or to cast the first stone of reproach at your characters in either of these respects? More than this. During this very uncommon continuance of your connexion with our Order, you have filled many important stations; and, in common with the rest of the fraternity, ^{have} passed through some "fiery trials." It was your fate to be in active life, and at stations of active duty, during that wicked persecution, which raged in this region for some ten or a dozen years, under the name of Anti-Masonry. During that time, be it remembered, arguments, abuse, hard names, threats and denunciations, were dealt out most liberally (as regards quantity) to all who were known as adhering, and especially as active, masons, or knights.

And, how did you pass that ordeal? Let me answer. We look in vain, for the slightest dereliction from duty, for the minutest yielding of principle — for the least relaxation of effort in the good cause — for the faintest attempt at concealment of your principles, or convictions, for even the slightest quiver of any moral or physical fibre, amid all you suffered, or were threatened with, during those dreadful times.

God bless you for your patience — for your faithfulness — for your efforts — and for all your sacrifices — Long may "Venerable men! — Heaven has bountiously lengthened out your lines, that you might behold this day? and your companions have judged it not only fit and proper but important as well as agreeable to their feelings — that the occasion should be marked by something more than a passing notice.

They desire that you will carry to your homes some enduring memorial of their attachment — some tangible evidence of their sense of your worth, and many virtues. So that, as time wears on, and either sickness, or infirmity, may detain you from our meetings, you shall never lack a present evidence of the high estimation in which your services, and merits are held, by those for whom I speak.

Presentation.

Be pleased, therefore, to accept these little mementos of our affectionate regard — not for any "intrinsic value" they possess — but for the sake of the spirit which fills, and animates, and swells in the breasts of the givers.

Here the testimonials were presented consisting of a silver Goblet to each of the venerable knights — each Goblet containing a rich Bouquet — Upon each, was inscribed, as a motto the word Veritas — and upon another part, the following —

Testimonials

To Sir John B. Hammett, knighted March 1804.

Mar 15 1854 The Matte inscribed thereon Veritas — requires no explanation from me —

It tells its own story — It suggests no new tests — none but such as you have often enough passed with honor — none from which you have aught to fear.

The Material, of which these articles are constructed, — being one of the "precious metals" — is typical of those precious, sterling, qualities in yourselves which have called forth this manifestation.

The Bouquets they contain, are intended to shadow forth, in some slight degree, our estimate of the beauty — as well as precious "odor," and delightful influences of a good name.

And as Flowers are the acknowledged tokens of pure affection, we not only fill, and crown, our present offerings with them; but, as "True and courteous Knights," we desire that these may in due time be presented to those dear partners of "your joys and sorrows", whose presence our rules deny us here — may heaven shower its richest blessings on their heads.

With these testimonials, Sir Knights allow us to associate our ardent wishes for your present, and future well being.

May your remaining days on earth be as many, as you desire — and may they all be passed in happiness and peace.

And when, at last, the day, and hour of your departure shall come, may your transit be pleasant and easy — and having passed that Portal — which is so dark and uninviting on this side, but beyond which lie regions so bright and beautiful — may you both be permitted to join the "last ones" of your early days — and to participate with them, in an eternal round of those enjoyments, in store for the virtuous and good.

Here — when the trials and duties of this life shall have been passed and ended, and the gates of death shall have been closed behind us — Here — beyond

The ceremony of presentation having been performed, pertinent remarks were called out from distinguished Sir Knights present, after which, at the sound of the trumpet, the procession returned to the hall when the remainder of the order on the three candidates (Smith Sawegon and Sanderson) was finished.

The Council was then closed and the Sir Knights disbanded in harmony and good fellowship

Calvin Whiting: Sec'd

Preamble and resolution referred to on preceding page.

And still another is gone! another has left our peaceful, happy Argyle here, to dwell forever in the "bosom of his Father and his God". Surely a gentle spirit has passed away, and though enabled neither by Station, riches, or intellect, who of us can lay his hands on his breast, and not feel his heart pulsating with increased emotion at the loss of our good Brother Charles Williams, and though his earthly estate was lowly and obscure & almost "pinching poverty" his labors, do we not envy him that better possession that heavenly mansion to which a life of purity, of religious faith and a blameless course has entitled him. His pilgrimage has been checkered and varied by the white & dark spots of Fortune. He was born of wealthy parents and was a partner in the extensive book establishment of R. P. & C. Williams, a home well known some thirty years since, particularly as publisher connected with the Prot. Epis. Church of this Diocese. But the firm failed, their property was engulfed and lost, & his brothers, all are gone, and he, a lonely man poor and destitute has survived his misfortune for many years, living solitary and alone, deriving his best comfort from a well grounded hope in that better land where mutations shall come no more, from Religion.

That kind, that soothing power Which soothes pains, alleviates care and gilds each glowing hour
Next to the Church, our Institution was his support. In his prosperity he gave himself to Masonry, and was a constant and devoted Member of this body for 30 years, and here in the dark & declining years of life he found a refuge and a solace, ever equal, always cheerful, was he not in one respect a bright example? of resignation to his lot, of patience in adversity, of placid acquiescence to the frowns of fortune. Let us remember him for these qualities, their possession is to be envied.

He died suddenly, scarcely without a premonition.
He was apparently without suffering, when last seen two hours before he was found in the attitude of prayer and dead. Thus, alone, without an earthly friend he had breathed his last, commending with that heavenly friend comfort to whom he had so long leaned for support. Thus died a Christian man, and he who can have this title for his manner needs no higher eulogium.

Resolved That in unity of life as a man a Christian and a Mason, The Boston Encampment has lost by the death of Charles Williams one who in these virtues was a distinguished member.

The Anniversary of St. John the Baptist was celebrated at Framingham, June 24th 1854. under the direction of Middlesex Lodge. There were present 5000 Masons. Boston Encampment under their Commander Sir. Daniel Harwood turned out to the number of 58. The address by Sir Knight Alger was a beautiful and elegant production. The day was fine and the occasion one of interest and much enjoyed by all present.

Meeting of the Boston Encampment

For the Installation of Officers

Wednesday Evening

Nov 8.th 1854.

Installation

Arrangements having been made for a public installation, the ceremonies rendered doubly interesting by the presence of the wives and daughters and other invited guests of the members of our body.

The Encampment was formed in the upper Hall and proceeded to the large one below under the Command of Sir John R. Bradford. On his taking the Chair he called for the reading of the records relative to the election of the Officers, which being done. The Marshall and Wardens introduced the Grand Commander elect and presented him for installation.

Most Eminent Sir Daniel Harwood was then duly installed Grand Commander. who then proceeded to install the Officers elected and appointed. (in order on second preceeding page)

The Ceremonies of Installation being performed during the order of exercises, an address was given by Sir William R. Alger. The subject was "the Old Chivalry and the New" their nature and Origin, the theme was grand, and was handled in a manner unsurpassed for brilliancy and poetry of language, and was listened to with intense interest.

The past and the present.

"The eternal steps of progress beats,

To that great anthem calm and slow;

Which God repeats"

"For faith and love and knowledge

The civilizing three,

Still prove by good that has been,

Shall better yet may be."

My Dear Doctor

(Yours has just reached me, and I am very much obliged for the ^{kindly} terms in which you and your worthy companions Sir Knight, Lewis and Morse speak of my performance the other evening. After thinking the matter over I think it really best not to print, but rather to keep, my address, if published, it is gone, if published it is yours, if not I can use it again. So, I pray you, as Sir Knights no less courteous than valiant, to excuse me for not complying with your flattering request? I will spare you the funds of the Encampment and you will still believe me most ready at any time to do what in me lies for the interest of our cherished Order.

Respectfully yours

William Knapp

This meeting was called to confer the Order of the Temple on two candidates
An Encampment was formed Sir Daniel Harwood presiding

Sir Knight Lewis presented the Preamble and resolutions which will be found recorded after the other record of the Meeting

Sir Knight Winslow Lewis presented an elegant Sword, accompanied with the following letter.

Sword*

About retiring from the Council of this Encampment, no longer to hold a prominent position as an Officer of this Body, though while life remains hoping ever to be a zealous member, I wish to leave a slight memorial of my good will as a feeble compensation for so much happiness derived from this long continued and most delightful association. I therefore present through you this decorated Sword, to be used in conferring the Orders of Knighthood, and may all those on whom that blade may descend be true and courteous, valiant and magnanimous, ever ready to resist, injustice, falsehood and oppression and be what the Boston Encampment has ever been first in the ranks of Masonic Knighthood.

The Grand Commander made a brief acknowledgment, with the expression of warm thanks — and a further response was referred to a Committee, consisting of Sir Knights Harwood, Nurse & Bradford.

To the memory of Sir William B. Oliver by Sir Knight Lewis

The commemorating in an associate capacity those who have left us forever; those who have joined with us through both the gay and the grave, the fitful, changing scenes of many years; is a custom hallowed by every heart, and endears itself especially to the household of our Faith; and its influence is for good on the survivors, should teach us so to live, that our memories may be kept green and cherished. This should give a salutary momentum to our conduct here, and ensure us from oblivion when passed away. We have lost from our number One, whose joyful face, kindly affections and harmonious voice long cheered us: Who, though occupying no distinguished position in the world at large to us was one ever distinguished welcome, and in his life's "narrow round" did his best to diffuse and promote happiness. This we deem no vain wish, and this we award to the memory of William B. Oliver. His old companions will recur to the happy hours which he ever enlivened, and the pleasant by-gones are retraced when life with us was young; and — "Now the past comes back again, and death is like its mournful tribute of the living and memories that were gathered at the heart the treasures kept from busier hours are giving."

Let us not then bury all of our Brother, but kindly cherish the recollections of his worth, and of the many pleasant hours we have passed together, and of the good qualities in heart which gained for him while

Sep. 29. 1855. with us, the affections, and now gone, the regards of his brethren

Fare well to thy gentle spirit!

" Rest undisturbed beneath thy peaceful slumbers -

" Till Angels wake thee with such notes as thine".

Resolved: That Death has bereft us of a Brother, who in the kindly affections, the generous sympathies, and the social ties, was always preeminent, and that this Encampment has lost a valued and much loved member.

Resolved: That to the Widow and children, we tender that sympathy which this bereavement calls forth, The good husband, the kind parent has gone, but leaving the rich legacy of a good name, better than gold, and imperishable

Voted: That the foregoing be adopted and entered upon the records and a copy forwarded to the family of the deceased

To Sir Winslow Lewis

Dear Sir & Brother,

The undersigned have been appointed, by the Boston Encampment of Knight Templars, a Committee to acknowledge the reception of a Splendid Sword - for which they are indebted to your liberal generosity, and to tender you their most cordial thanks.

We have also been charged with the duty of causing a suitable inscription to be placed upon the Sword; and of procuring a proper case for the deposit and preservation of your gift.

The two last mentioned duties have been already discharged. There has been engraved upon the Hilt of the Sword the following record of the act, and the wishes of the donor viz:

"Presented to Boston Encampment by their Past Commander Sir Winslow Lewis to be used in Conferring the Orders of Knighthood."

And there has been procured a durable and proper Rose wood case richly lined, in which your present is securely deposited; and in which you present is securely deposited, and in which it can and will be displayed at all future meetings, not only for its "distinct use", but as a perpetual memento of your munificence

It now only remains for us to discharge the pleasing duty first above named

With that aim, we beg leave to declare, in the most explicit and earnest manner, that individually and collectively, the body from whom we have the honor to speak, cherish towards you, not only feelings of gratitude for the act which calls forth this communication, but sentiments of the highest respect and consideration

Traturnally & very truly

Yours &c Daniel Harwood,
Gilbert Kane
J. R. Bradford } Com.

The following is the reply to the above.

The slight testimonial of my regard to the Boston Encampment, alluded to in your very courteous letter, is but a very feeble testimonial of the gratitude due that Institution from one, who for twenty five years, has held it as the source of so much happiness. For social joys, for the best and the most solid of his friendships, for many, many happy hours, can he turn to the order, and thank them from his heart; and if all of his earthly possessions were cast at their feet, they could not repay or cancel the great debt of his gratitude. The genial, warm period of his early manhood was spent with you, in the enjoyment of all that gave life its best part, and now, as that activity is diminished as life's pilgrimage advances, he trusts still to be able to dedicate the remaining portion to the cause which so long has cheered his course, and he trusts that henceforth as in the past that cord will & fellowship which has ever prevailed, may still continue

Signed Winslow Lewis

To Sir. Moses Kimball

Dear Sir and Brother

Your note of the 16th inst. and the elegant "Crozier" accompanying it, were both received on the morning of the 17th just as the members of Boston Encampment were assembling to prepare for the duties of the day, and I had the pleasure of immediately laying both the note and the Gift before the body.

Whereupon it was unanimously

Voted:

That the Encampment accepts with great pleasure, the superb gift, and that their thanks be presented to the generous donor, for this most acceptable evidence of his liberality and fraternal feelings.

Voted: That the Council be a committee to communicate these sentiments to Sir Knight Kimball; while discharging this very agreeable duty, the Committee desire to avail themselves of the opportunity afforded, to express their personal sense of obligation, as well as their sentiments of respect and fraternal attachment

Most sincerely and truly

Yours

For the Committee

Daniel Harwood Chairman

Presentation of "Articles used in the ceremonies". by Sir Richard Briggs copy of letter of thanks by Sir Knight Lewis,

In private life there is no greater incivility than the non-acknowledgment of courtesies rendered, and benefits received, but in the larger associations of men, these are too oft forgotten, not from intent, but from that influence elucidated by the old adage, "that what is the business of any man is no ones"

The undersigned, the Council of the Boston Encampment would after this lean apology, in behalf of that Body now thank Sir Richard Briggs sincerely and gratefully for his rich and appropriate Gift of Articles used in their ceremonies, and their high appreciation both of the gift and the donor, with their united and sincere wishes, that long and happily he and his may quaff of prosperity to the full, and that the "bitter cup" may not be tasted until by a good life here all has been duly and truly prepared.
